A SONG

With the Nancy Carroll hit picture, "THE DEVIL'S HOLIDAY," Edmund Goulding makes his debut as a Paramount author-director-composer. He wrote the story, directed the picture and composed the music for the orchestral accompaniment.

Here is a copy of the chief number--"YOU ARE A SONG." With it go Goulding's greetings to the distribution and exhibition organizations that bring his first Paramount picture to the public. Goulding obtained several hundred copies of the song from the Famous Music Company, and asked me to distribute them as an issue of INSIDE.

It is a great song, as you can now hear for yourself. Goulding's last song was "Love Your Magic Spell Is Everywhere," featured in Gloria Swanson's "The Trespasser," which he also wrote and directed. In the opinion of those who have heard this new one, it should be an even bigger hit.

Don't, however, make the mistake of thinking of "THE DEVIL'S HOLIDAY" as a musical. It is not. It is an emotional melodrama. Nancy Carroll does not sing this song. It is heard as background sound at a party and in the accompaniment.

Get behind it. Plugging it will help the picture. It will help Nancy Carroll. It will help you. It will help Goulding.

He deserves your co-operation, your full recognition. He has given you a sensational picture. He undoubtedly will give you more. He should be established here and now as one of Paramount's ace directors.
